Multi-million development project for Oxford submitted

GATEWAY PLANS GO TO INSPECTOR

Deputy PM serves up a treat in Oxford

DEPUTY Prime Minister Nick Clegg joined celebrity chef Raymond Blanc at his Oxford restaurant on Monday

Pupils from St Michael's School in Steventon and North Kidlington Primary helped them serve up pumpkin pasta from scratch at Brasserie Blanc in Walton Street

Mr Clegg was celebrating two months of free school meals and criticised Oxfordshire County Council's "grumbling" over the initiative

PLANS to develop a site with 500 homes, a business park and hotel in north Oxford have been submitted to the Government for inspection

Oxford City Council handed its Northern Gateway Area Action Plan (AAP) to the Secretary of State for inspection on October 24

Planning inspector Christine Newmarch is assessing the plan, which sets out a framework for development on land either side of the A44 and next to Peartree interchange

The city council wants to develop 44 hectares of land at the site which has been coined the Northern Gateway for employment and housing

City council leader Bob Price (pictured) said: "The Northern Gateway development is a rare opportunity to provide significant new floor space within the city for the innovation and knowledge-based sector that is so important to Oxford's and the national economy

"It also offers the opportunity to provide additional new homes and associated facilities in the form of a thriving new community that forms part of Oxford"

Among the plans is up to 500 homes, a new link road between the A40 and A44, improvements to the Wolvercote and Cutteslowe roundabouts and more parking spaces at Peartree Park and Ride

By Jack Johnson
jjohnson@oxfordmailnewspapers.co.uk

A total of 156 people responded to the public consultation, which ended on September 15, and all comments on the AAP have been submitted to the inspector

The city council says draft policies on the green belt, where much of land has been identified, and highways access received the most responses

Oxfordshire's branch of the Campaign to Protect Rural England (CPRE) opposes the plan.

Clegg warns council to 'stop grumbling'

DEPUTY Prime Minister Nick Clegg sent a very stern message to Oxfordshire County Council during his visit to the city on Monday, urging the authority to stop its grumbling over free school meals.

Mr Clegg was at celebrity chef Raymond Blanc's Brasserie Blanc restaurant in Walton Street to promote National School Meals Week which ends tomorrow (November 7).

It also marked two months since the introduction of a £1billion free school meals initiative for every child aged five to seven in state schools.

However Oxfordshire County Council has been vocal about the policy in the past and was forced to spend an extra £800,000 on upgrading catering facilities at schools, despite a £1.5million Government grant.

But Mr Clegg said the county council needed to stop its "endless grumbling" about the initiative.

He added: "It is time for the county council to get on board and back something that is popular with parents and teachers.

"Most importantly it will be to the benefit of Oxfordshire children for years to come.

"Any teacher, mum or dad knows we can't expect a child to concentrate well in the afternoon and pay attention if they have not got a healthy meal in their tummy at lunchtime."

However the county council's cabinet member for education Melinda Tilley was far from impressed with Mr Clegg's comments.

She said: "I see no reason why we have to agree with everything this government does.

"For him to come out and criticise us is absolutely crass.

"We rushed around trying to do what this silly man wanted us to do.

"A billion pounds could have done so much more for the disadvantaged children of Oxfordshire."

Layla Moran, Liberal Democrat parliamentary candidate for Oxford West and Abingdon, was also at the restaurant and said after only two months free school meals have made a big difference.

She continued: "I have been speaking to teachers who, despite initial reservations about whether they could carry this off, are now seeing kids in their class perform better than they would be expected at this point in the school year."

Star chef enthused by free school meals

CELEBRITY chef Raymond Blanc threw his weight behind the Government's free school meals initiative when the deputy prime minister Nick Clegg visited his restaurant on Monday.

Mr Blanc, who welcomed Mr Clegg and primary school children to his Brasserie Blanc restaurant in Walton Street, Oxford, said it has revolutionised the country.

The £1billion initiative was launched in September this year and offers a free meal at lunchtime to children aged between four and seven at state schools.

On Monday Mr Blanc showed children from St Michael's School in Stevenson and North Kidlington Primary as well as Mr Clegg how to make pumpkin pasta from scratch.

He said: "A revolution is happening in Great Britain – a new awareness has at last reached the political establishment that food is crucial to life, to success, to good academic results, to health.

"What has happened is a most important step towards a whole nation reconnecting to its routes, farming culture and to better education and successes for children.

"I showed the children that little seeds will create an extraordinary beautiful plant and they took it in and it's amazing how the imagination works."

Westgate plans

OXFORD A date has been set for when Oxford City Council is due to decide on plans for the £500million redevelopment of the city's Westgate Shopping Centre.

The West Area Planning Committee will meet at Oxford Town Hall in St Aldate's on November 25.

It follows a reserved matters application of details about the project which was submitted on October 17.

The Westgate Oxford Alliance, a joint venture between property companies the Crown Estate and Land Securities, want to build 70 new shops, a John Lewis department store, cafes, restaurants and leisure facilities.

A question and answer session will be held at Westgate in Bonn Square, on Wednesday November 12, at 4.30pm for people to find out more about the plans.

Intruder sought

FARINGDON Police are appealing for witnesses after an offender broke into a house through an unsecure rear door in the town's Church Street on Tuesday.

At around 5.30am the man broke in and made his way to the bedroom where he was confronted by the elderly woman inside.

She shouted at the intruder who subsequently ran away.

Nothing was stolen and no one was injured during the incident.

Anyone with information is asked to call police on 101.

Fire strike

OXON Fire fighters attended 70 call outs during a four day union strike between last Friday, October 31, and Tuesday, November 4.

During the 96-hour strike the service attended 38 smoke alarm incidents, 24 fires and three road traffic collisions among other incidents.

Oxfordshire County Council says the fire service responded to every call it received during the strike.

The strike, organised by the Fire Brigades Union, was over a national dispute over central government pension reforms.

City to get free public WiFi in £150m project

COMMUNITY centres, libraries museums and Park and Rides will all have free internet access as part of government plans to see WiFi offered at 1,000 public buildings across the UK.

Around £150million is being spent by the government on the scheme to increase the digital capability of British cities.

Bob Price, leader of Oxford City Council said: "Oxford's huge student population and successful tourist industry will benefit particularly from this very welcome investment in WiFi access.

"The city council has worked closely with our world famous museums, galleries and public institutions to secure a very wide city centre coverage."

Peter Smith, president and ambassador at the Oxfordshire Chamber of Commerce, was involved in bidding for WiFi.

He said: "The chamber in Oxfordshire has campaigned for increased broadband in Oxford and we are encouraged by this announcement.

"This will help to transform the digital capability of the city making it even more of an attractive place to do business, visit and invest in."

Election date

OXFORD The date of three by elections for vacancies on the Oxford City Council and Oxfordshire County Council has been set for November 27.

It comes after Val Smith resigned from the city council's Blackbird Leys ward and the county council's Leys Division and Steve Curran stepped down from his city seat for Northfield Brook.

A list of nominations for the three vacancies can be found on the city council's website oxford.gov.uk.

Man arrested

OXFORD A 20 year-old man from Bicester has been arrested after two men and a woman were assaulted in Oxford on October 19.

At around 2.05am one of the victims was punched in the face on St Thomas Street before running off when he was chased down by four offenders and assaulted again.

He was taken to the John Radcliffe Hospital for treatment for swelling and bruising and has since been discharged.

The man and woman who intervened were also assaulted, but did not need hospital treatment.

Investigating officer PC Ashley Gardner from Cowley police station said: "CCTV footage shows members of the public walking near to the scene and at one point it appears they would have walked into the assault.

"I am keen to trace these people and speak to them as they may have vital information which could help with this investigation."

Call 101 with information.

Government planning inspector scrutiny

CPRE Oxfordshire director Helen Marshall previously told the Oxfordshire Guardian she feared the scheme could have a "significant visual impact" on the green belt.

Roads through the site are also a major traffic pinch point.

But Oxfordshire County Council is in support of the plan.

Cabinet member for Transport David Nimmo Smith said a transport strategy has been created to reduce journey times on the A40 and A44 and to negate any impact on the A34.

He added: "The strategy sets out the expected transport impacts of the development proposed within the Northern Gateway AAP and outlines a range of measures required to mitigate it.

It confirms that if implemented impact from the additional traffic generated could be mitigated.

One of those strategies includes installing new traffic lights for pedestrians and cyclists at Peartree Interchange.

The planning inspector will hold an examination and public hearings in the New Year.

Levy on developers could fund projects

A TAX on housing developers could be introduced by Vale of White Horse District Council to help fund improvements to infrastructure in the area

The Community Infrastructure Levy (CIL) has been announced by the council as it prepares to launch the consultation for its draft local plan, earmarking where more than 20 000 houses would be built in the district by 2031

Money from the tax would be used for projects including new schools and road improvements with the council proposing a standard charge of £120 per m² for residential developments

Between 15 and 25 per cent of the money would go to parish councils while the district council would get the rest.

Projects the Vale is planning include a new secondary school in Grove, six new primary schools and the expansion of nine existing primary schools

Road improvements are planned on the A34 junctions at Lodge Hill, Milton and Chilton, the Rowstock roundabout and on the A4130 A335 and A420

The council is also planning to overhaul its design guide used by planning officers who decide if an application is acceptable.

Consultations on the tax, local plan and design guide open tomorrow and run until 4 30pm on December 19

The local plan will then be submitted to government

The council s cabinet member for planning policy Mike Murray said. "Thanks to everybody's comments over the past couple of years we have put together a robust plan that we're confident will get the planning inspector s green light

"This is a crucial step on the road to getting ourselves back in control of planning in the Vale.

"Whilst finalising the local plan, we have also been working hard to make sure all new developments in the district are well supported by infrastructure and the introduction of our CIL will help us do that

The overhaul of our design guide will make sure that all new developments will be well-designed and respect the character of our districť

Residents get flood prevention advice at fair

AROUND 100 residents attended a flood fair on October 31 to discuss flood prevention methods for their homes and communities

Held at West Oxford Community Centre the Oxfordshire Flood Fair brought together representatives from councils the Environment Agency flood groups and fire services.

Visitors were offered help with flood prevention information about flood services and advice in applying for a repair and renewal grant

The grant provides up to £5 000 to households to get flood defences put into their homes and is offered to those who have been affected by flooding between December 1 2013 and March 31 this year

Rodney Rose deputy leader of Oxfordshire County Council said "It was an excellent event and I was delighted to be able to visit myself and talk with the organisations representatives

He added "The repair and renewal grant is there to be used and I would encourage all of those eligible to apply

"The council take their responsibility to protect homes very seriously and would encourage residents to do the same.

Blind veteran set to take part in march on Remembrance Day

By Adam Flinn
adam@tigernewspapers.co.uk

A SECOND World War veteran from Kidlington will join more than 100 other representatives of the Blind Veterans UK charity for a Remembrance Day service in London on Sunday.

Peter Phipps 85 will march to the Cenotaph in the capital alongside dozens of other vision impaired ex servicemen and women.

He began his military career in the Royal Navy at the age of 16 but was discharged by his commanding officer for signing up underage.

Peter then joined the RAF and while waiting to start a course in mechanics volunteered as a parachute jump instructor during the war.

Following an accident after a jump in the Netherlands he returned to the RAF to take up his trade as an instrument mechanic before leaving in 1949.

In the years afterwards he went on to various jobs becoming the director of several companies.

His eyesight began to fail in later life and Peter has been receiving help from Blind Veterans UK since 2012 representing the charity at the same service last year.

"I thoroughly enjoyed my day and it made me very proud," Peter said of last year's event.

"The crowds are cheering you on and it feels great, but then you realise that it's not about you. You're doing it for those that couldn't come home."

As well as honouring his fallen comrades Peter believes it is vital to promote the work of the charity.

He added: "I still meet people – even older people – who don't know about Blind Veterans UK.

"I think it's a real shame, and it's important for us to make people aware of the fantastic work that Blind Veterans UK do and the difference they can make to ex-service personnel who have lost their sight."

Truck firm raises cash for charity

OXFORD BASED children's charity Helen and Douglas House has received a £12 000 donation from a local truck company.

DAF Trucks who are based off the Eastern Bypass in Thame, raised the money by renting out their vehicles to local haulage firms.

The 44 tonne trucks were rented out to companies who are members of the Transport Association with all payments donated to Helen and Douglas House in Magdalen Road Oxford.

The three trucks that have been up on hire were decorated with livery in support of the charity that offers hospice care for children and young adults with life shortening conditions.

And last Friday October 31 the company surprised children at Addington School in Reading as part of the fund-raising efforts.

The school caters for children with moderate severe or profound learning needs and many of the pupils and their families are supported by the charity.

Deputy headteacher Ian Ayre said the children thought the trucks were "cool to see".

He added: "Our pupils and staff loved the opportunity to see the truck up close and were very impressed."

Rugby players invade city centre's streets

LONDON Welsh s players took to the streets of Oxford last Wednesday for a rather differ ent afternoon of rugby

Players and coaching staff got out and about in the city centre to pass on some rugby tips while also trying their hand at some unusual roles

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers co uk

It was all part of the club s 'Big City Scrum' which saw an open training session held at St Edward s School in Woodstock Road.

Club captain Matt Corker who was in Bonn Square giving out tips to passers-by who tried their skills in the passing cage and on the tackle bag challenge said it was a 'fantastic' day despite the wet weather

He added "It s great for us to get out and meet people in the community and we ve been really warmly received

"Having an open training sess sion was fantastic for us and another opportunity to meet local kids

"It was a great day"

Matt was joined in Bonn Square by head coach Justin Burnell and fellow players Tom May Piri Weepu and Daniel Browne

Meanwhile other players tried their hand at something a little different.

Alan Aweock, Nathan Trevett Ben West and James Down showed off their cooking skills and served customers at the Gourmet Burger Kitchen in George Street

Pablo Henn and Lachlan McCaffrey pulled a few pints at the Royal Bleuheim pub in St Ebbes while Dean Schofield and Chris Elder visited Sobell House Hospice at the Churchill Hospital in Old Road.

Rob Lewis and Nathan Vella tried out the burdles at Headington Hill Park visited Blackbird Leys Park and spent time with South Central Ambulance Service

London Welsh chief execu tive officer Mike Stevens said "Despite the best efforts of the rain the day proved a huge suc cess and it was great to see the players getting out in the city centre meeting supporters

Danger of legal highs shown

A FOOTBALL tournament organised to highlight the risks associated with legal highs was staged at St Gregory the Great Catholic School in Oxford last week

Twelve teams took part in the competition on October 29 which was set up by Oxfordshire County Council and supported by Oxford United with Iffley Harriers being crowned the winners

The tournament gave the players the opportunity to win a number of prizes through sporting challenges while being given information about the dangers of legal highs

It followed a summit between the council Thames Valley Police and Oxford University Hospitals NHS Trust where the issues surrounding legal highs were discussed

Hilary Hibbert-Biles the council s cabinet member for public health, said "It was an excellent positive meeting

"We all have a responsibility to try and increase knowledge and understanding about what legal highs are and why they pose a real danger to users, as well as tackling their sale in Oxfordshire

"By working together we stand a better chance of succeeding in our aim of understanding the size of the issue here and finding a joined up way of addressing it"

• Winners of the tournament Iffley Harriers celebrate with their trophies

End of the road for Witney bus routes

FIVE bus routes in West Oxfordshire are set to be axed this month after the service operator said they were 'not sustainable'

Go Ride buses are withdrawing the W1 W1A, W2 and W3 services which run in Witney and the X10 route that operates between Witney Burford The Wychwoods and Clupping Norton ou November 30

The routes were taken over by the Abingdon based operator on June 1 this year after Oxfordshire County Council made changes t their subsidised bus services in the area

Dave Harrison director of Go Ride said "We introduced these services without council subsidy from June with high hopes and expectations that we would provide a better service for Witney and The Wychwoods

"However due to a combination of factors this has not worked out as we planned

"The services are not commercially sustainable

"Unfortunately passengernum bers have not met expectations and the st audard of operations is below what we and our passengers expect

• Rodney Rose says the council is looking for a new operator

By Adam Flinn

adam.t aylornewspapers.co.uk

"Therefore it is in the best interests of both ourselves and our passengers that the services are operated by another company"

Mr Harrison added that uo ather Go Ride routes around Oxfordshire were under threat.

But he added three services are under review as part of the county council s annual contract process

Rodney Rose deputy leader af Oxfordshire County Council, said "I am sorry that Go Ride buses cannot continue to operate these bus services

"I am aware that they provide a valuable service to the passengers who depend on them

"The county council is taking urgent steps to work with other bus companies to keep these services running from December

He added "We will anuounce our plans as soon as possible to give reassurance to the local communities"

MP's Corner

Ed Vaizey

MP for Wantage and Didcot

On charity and adoption

WE VE all noticed in recent years there seem to be ever more special days and weeks set aside to remind us af particular good causes

I've come across two recently which particularly struck a chord with me

The first was SUDEP Awareness Day on October 23

This day was organised by SUDEP Action a charity which was set up by Jane Hanna OBE and is based in Wantage

SUDEP Action campaigns to raise awareness and uuder standing of the risk of sudden death in epilepsy

I was very pleased indeed to be invited to become President of SUDEP Action and to host an event at the House of Commons which helped MPs to understend both the risk of sudden death for those with epilepsy and the relatively simple steps that can be taken to reduce that risk quite significantly

It was sobering to hear from families who had been bereaved through sudden death in epilepsy and inspiring to see how determined they are to help others learn from their very sad experience.

If you, or someone you know has epilepsy even in a very mild form, please do take a look at the website sudep org and spread the word about this important but little-discussed issue

Adoption brings challenges, immense rewards and can make a huge positive difference to the lives of children and those who adopt them.

National Adoption Week, which takes place from November 3 to 9 will make all of those points and more

This is particularly important for children who often wait the longest to be adopted sibling groups children with disabilities children aged five and over and children from some black and minority ethnic backgrounds

The campaign will encourage us all to think about and hopefully come forward to adopt these children and give them a loving home

As you d expect, there's a website for this week too where you can find more information about adoption nationaladoptionweek.org uk/adoption.

It seems that every day or week now has a special label or significance.

Not all are relevant to many of us but some really do bring an opportunity to highlight an important issue and make a real difference.

Attackers 'used Staffie as a weapon' in Oxford

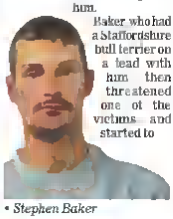
TWO men have been sentenced to a combined four years in prison for assaulting a group of four friends and a police officer in Oxford

Tom East, 23 and Stephen Baker, 31 both of no fixed address, were convicted on October 23 for the assaults in Little Clarendon Street on August 24 this year

The incident took place outside the Pierre Victoire restaurant at around 9pm

A woman approached one of the victims and asked him for a cigarette

When he declined, the woman took the cigarette he had placed in his mouth before East ran up to another of the victims and held a bottle of wine above his head, threatened and spat at him.



Baker, who had a Staffordshire bull terrier on a lead with him, then threatened one of the victims and started to strangle another before being pulled back.

He then threw the dog at one of the four punched and knocked him to the ground and kicked him in the stomach before the dog bit the victim

When police arrived Baker bit one of the officers and tried to bite the others

Baker pleaded guilty to assault occasioning actual bodily harm two counts of common assault one count of assault with intent to resist arrest and a count of being in charge of a dog dangerously out of control.

He was sentenced to 36 months in prison and disqualified from owning a dog for life

East was sentenced to a year in prison after pleading guilty to three counts of common assault and one of owning an out of control dog.

Investigating officer DC Matthew Hodgetts said, "A Staffordshire bull terrier was used as a weapon, and ultimately bit one of the victims nearly causing life-changing injuries

"Violence on the streets will not be tolerated and will be investigated thoroughly"

Children get creative for Santa

YOUNGSTERS at a Didcot nursery were making Christmas cards for Santa Claus last week as part of a competition run by the Cornerstone theatre

Children aged between three and seven at Lydalls Nursery School were challenged to think of a wacky adventure for Santa and make a colourful card of him doing it

Entries are then put in a special post box at Station Road theatre where the cards will be displayed ahead of a winner being chosen on December 14.

Louise Birt, operations manager at Cornerstone said "We can't wait to see all the fabulous cards the children make

"We're looking for cute and creative ideas for what Santa might be getting up to on his adventures – the wackier they are the better

The winner of the competition will get a free ticket to see the theatre's Christmas show The Life and Adventures of Santa Claus as well as the chance to meet the man himself.

Lydalls Nursery School headteacher Rebecca Saunders said, "We've been going to Christmas shows at Cornerstone for several years and the children really enjoy them.

"It's great that families across Didcot will be able to join in with this fun competition and have the chance to win tickets to see the show"

Brookes Uni building picks up another prize

AN OXFORD Brookes University building that gained national recognition earlier this year has been honoured with an Oxford Preservation Trust award.

The John Henry Brookes Building was given the award for the 'new building' category on Tuesday evening.

It comes after the building made the shortlist for the prestigious Stirling Prize, awarded by the Royal Institute of British Architects to the best buildings in Europe.

The Oxford Preservation Trust recognises projects in and around Oxford that make a difference to the conservation or improvement of the city.

Paul Inman, pro vice chancellor and dean of Oxford Brookes, said: "We are exceptionally delighted to have been recognised with an award from the Oxford Preservation Trust.

"This latest accolade is particularly special as it recognises the wider benefits that our wonderful new buildings bring to Oxford and our local communities.

"Students, staff and visitors continue to be amazed by the new spaces on our Headington campus, which are adding to the rich architectural heritage of the city of Oxford."

Other winners in the 'new building' category at the awards included the Leonard Wolfson Auditorium in Oxford and Clocktower Court at Radley College.

Awards for 'building conservation' went to 13 Ock Street in Abingdon, Oxford University Museum of Natural History and The Queens College Library.

Recognition for 'small projects' went to the conservation and repair of the choir vault at Christ Church Cathedral and 1855 at Oxford Castle, while the 'environmental/landscape' honour went to Wolvercote Lakes.

Debbie Dance, director of the Oxford Preservation Trust, said: "The awards are the trust's opportunity to recognise prominent local projects, large and small, and to highlight the teams that make them happen.

"They illustrate the vital role that positive design has across our community, and how our physical environment is shaped by the buildings around us each day."

Anthony Herrus, chairman of awards sponsor Critchleys, added: "It is great to see that the Oxford Preservation Trust is not just about preserving the cobwebs on old buildings and the status quo.

"It is supporting the manner in which buildings can be built, renovated and upgraded for the 21st century whilst still contributing to the heritage of our city and the county."

Council is searching for good neighbours

OXFORDSHIRE'S residents are being encouraged by the county council's Trading Standards team to help protect vulnerable neighbours from rogue doorstep sellers.

The council want to establish Good Neighbour Schemes across the county, which sees vulnerable people given cards they can hand to sellers that directs them to a neighbour.

It comes as almost £1million was taken from residents by criminals in 2013/14, who often use pressure tactics to charge more for shoddy work.

Richard Webb, the county council's manager for Trading Standards, said: "Unfortunately there are a number of unscrupulous door-to-door traders out there.

"The Good Neighbours campaign is an excellent way of people playing a part to help safeguard those living around them by acting as a buffer to help stop the exploitation of the vulnerable.

"I hope that there is a strong community response to the campaign which would help reduce the amount of money taken from the vulnerable by doorstep criminals."

An information event on the scheme is taking place at Carterton Market on Alvescot Road from 9am to 2pm today, and at the WRVS Coruhill Centre in Banbury tomorrow from 10am to 3pm.

It follows events in Oxford, Abingdon and Henley earlier this week.

Victim support

OXON: A contract worth £1.8million a year to provide emotional and practical support services for victims of crime has been signed by Thames Valley police and crime commissioner (PCC) Anthony Stansfeld.

Mr Stansfeld, along with PCCs for Surrey and Sussex, signed the pledge with charity Victim Support to provide support for crime victims.

It is hoped the contract will help save costs through working with other regions.

"This contract is an important step towards providing an integrated set of services for victims in the Thames Valley," said Mr Stansfeld.

"The experience and knowledge Victim Support brings together with their many much valued volunteers will be invaluable to me and to those most harmed by crime."

Court dodging

KIDLINGTON: A 28-year-old man from Kidlington has been arrested after failing to appear in court on a charge of assault by beating.

He was arrested on October 27 as part of Operation Reaper which saw Thames Valley Police carry out warrants against those who failed to turn up for court appearances.

More than 158 officers were involved in the operation, which led to 10 people being arrested.

WIN family tickets to Living Crafts for Christmas!

WIN one of four Family Tickets and wrap up your Christmas shopping at Living Crafts for Christmas and enjoy a great day out at Blenheim Palace.

This year why not do your Christmas shopping in style in the majestic setting of Blenheim Palace as over 150 British designer-makers take part in Living Crafts for Christmas from Thursday 20 – Sunday 23 November. This high light of the festive season showcases a huge range of contemporary crafts from across the UK, giving you the opportunity to buy from the makers. The Great Court is transformed into a winter wonderland with twinkling Christmas trees, roasting chestnuts, mulled cider and steaming hot chocolate as the sounds of festive street theatre and a duo singing Christmas favourites fill the air.

Perfect presents for all the family

With exquisite gold and silver designs in the Jewellery Quarter, studio glass, toys, millinery, fashions, ceramics, original art, wreaths and handcrafted decorations, the unique shopping experience has everything from individual gifts and special commissions to simple stocking fillers.

Closing date:
Friday November 14 2014

Tastes of Christmas

Festive aromas from the specialist food and drink in 'Tastes of Christmas' will tempt you with traditional treats and more unusual foodie gifts. Try handmade fudges and chocolates, waxed Cheddar truckles, connoisseur preserves and chutneys, while embracing the Christmas spirit with whiskies, fruit liqueurs, mulling syrups and wines for those special occasions. Blenheim Palace will be dressed for the season, celebrating in sparkle and splendour, with the theme of this year's décor being 'Glitter and Gold' while the beautiful parkland and formal gardens in their full winter glory are waiting to be explored. A feast of winter warming food is available in the Water Terrace Cafe and the Oxfordshire Pantry, featuring local produce and don't forget to drop into the Champagne Bar!

Further event information: www.livingcrafts.co.uk

We have four family tickets to give away for this great event and to be in with a chance of winning one just answer this simple question:

Q Which Oxfordshire town is next to Blenheim Palace: Witney, Woodstock or Wantage?

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions" or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

The Henley Players and Henley Operatic Society

CHRISTMAS is always a glamorous occasion when The Henley Players and Henley Operatic Society get together! However, they do usually dress in a little more than tinsel. But this is the fun that both dramatic societies have when producing shows. This picture is from a recent production of Calendar Girls, staged by the Henley Players, which raised over £1000 for the Lymphoma Research Charity the dreadful disease that was centre of the show's plot. However many of the ladies belong to both Societies and are always game for a laugh.

If you are looking for a worthwhile hobby, there is always something to do and lots of opportunity to get on stage. The Henley Players tend to produce plays whilst the Operatic Society - you guessed it - produce musicals. So there is something for everyone.

If you do not want to get on stage, but would still like to be involved, then there are a myriad of tasks such as costume make up, props and stage hands set building and so on - never a dull moment!

Tickets for either of these productions are available from www.henleyoperatic.co.uk. If you are interested in joining either of these societies please contact the membership secretaries below. (And we promise you can keep your clothes on!)

Free market appraisal

At Allen & Harris we like to respond to the key market trends to meet our public head on In addressing their needs We have seen a dramatic rise in house prices this year and a demand for property greater than the supply As a direct result of this we are hosting a Price Advice week across Oxfordshire beginning the week of the 10th November This will enable every Oxfordshire homeowner the opportunity to have a free no obligation market appraisal on the value of their homes in this strong market.

Why have a market appraisal now? Rightmove stated earlier this year that house prices have seen their biggest leap in more than a decade increasing by a staggering 6 3 per cent in a year (this is a national figure and we have outperformed this in Oxfordshire!) This has been fuelled by demand being greater than available properties on the market pushing prices up Property owners have also gained confidence In the market taking their hands off the pause button of the last few uncertain years to take up their plans to move again These aspects have all helped to create a buyont market place reflected particularly in Oxfordshire whereby prices are high in comparison to wages Oxford is also specific in that restraints on land to build new homes on keeps demand on property high The Financial Times recently reported Oxford as a global city and here at Allen & Harris we can verify this as we register an ever increasing number of international clients who want to live or to invest in Oxfordshire

By taking advantage of our Price Advice Week you will update your knowledge on what your property is worth today and we will give you advice on the Oxfordshire property market and the opportunity to have those questions you have answered! Please call your local branch to arrange a free no obligation market appraisal

Home buyers in Oxford missing out in competitive mortgage market say Connells Mortgage Services

Local Connells Mortgage Services Consultant Trish Knight based at the branch in Cowley Oxford is urging anyone who is thinking of taking out a mortgage to buy a home as well as home owners looking to remortgage not to get bogged down by mixed messages on interest rates and instead come in to discuss their options with a mortgage consultant

According to Trish continued speculation about when the Bank of England base rate will rise is causing anxiety

"With so much media coverage of when the base rate is likely to rise home buyers could be forgiven for assuming that the cost of borrowing is going up when in many cases mortgage lenders have cut their rates due to fierce competition in the market" says Trish. We want to help buyers and those hoping to improve their current mortgage arrangements to take advantage of lower interest rates Once you see through the media smokescreen it is a good time to secure a very attractive rate on a mortgage"

Connells is asking home buyers or those remortgaging that now may be the time to cash in on some very attractive mortgage rates before the base rate rises which is expected to happen next year

New agent joins local office

Local estate agency Connells in Headington is delighted to announce the appointment of new Lettings Negotiator Steve Bamsey, effective immediately.

Steve joins the Headington lettings team on London Road at a time where the demand for rental homes is soaring. Applicants are queuing up for rental homes in the area with demand heavily outweighing supply at present.

"I am really excited about joining the Connells Lettings team in Headington," says Steve.

"The local rental market is extremely buoyant at the moment and I'm enjoying the fast-paced environment working in lettings brings with it."

Headington is a popular location for tenants, landlords and investors. Being close to Oxford Brookes University and John Radcliffe Hospital, tenants are brilliantly positioned for a short commute into work whilst landlords yield a fantastic return on rental prices in the area.

"Demand for rental homes in the local area has continued unabated, on top of the major success the sales market has been enjoying," says Lettings Manager Chris Bolton King. "Our registered applicant's numbers are continuing to rise so we are keen to speak with prospective landlords and investors who we can build strong and successful relationships with. Anybody who has a vacant property to let should get in touch as soon as possible."

If you have a property to let, or want to rent, contact Connells in Headington on 01865 750110 or email headingtonlet@connells.co.uk, bebingtonlettings@sequencehome.co.uk.

Schools play an important factor for home buyers

MARTIN&CO

A factor that is not always considered when purchasing an investment property is its locality to a top state school. However, research suggests it could be a key factor in boosting your properties worth, as premiums for proximity to certain schools are reaching as high as 28% per cent!

A recent survey of over 400 schools indicated that families are putting education in particular state school education as a priority when buying a home. Studies show that an estimated 60% of families move to secure a quality education for their young. Proof in the pudding folks as we watched a 3 bedroom detached property in Wheatley let within hours and it let over the asking price. Yes you guessed it the family wanted the primary school!

The top 30 schools effect local house prices by an average of 10% of the properties worth. The lowest performing 25% of schools are seeing a 19% drop in house prices, perhaps only further proof that well placed property is a recession proof investment.

Although it could be argued that the data suggests only sale prices for homes are being affected, a rental opportunity can be an ideal alternative and an ideal investment. If a property is within reasonable walking distance of a state school that has been rated good or 'outstanding' by Ofsted, then the value of the house should maintain. With a cheaper rental alternative then you are catering for a proportion of parents that cannot afford to buy a house closer to the catchment area, but make the education of their young a priority.

Parents are willing to pay three times the amount it would cost to send their child to private education, to move closer to a good state school.

If you are investing in property close to a good school then it is worth remembering that the flip side of your investment being valued against a neighbouring educational institute is that development or change to this school could also cause your investment to change in value. Choose areas where there is a small possibility that large and unwanted low market developments will be built, altering the market and the school intake demand. Large development is always less likely to occur in the more upmarket areas. The bonus of this is that if you no longer require lettings income and wish to make a cash return, demand for this kind of property means it never sits on the market for extended periods of time.

Shrek the ogre is in town

SHREK, Princess Fiona, Donkey and Lord Farquaad are trading in the Kingdom of Far Far Away for Oxford's New Theatre next week

Shrek the Musical will be at the George Street theatre from Wednesday November 12 to Sunday November 23

Shrek and his noble steed Donkey embark on a quest to rescue the beautiful Princess Fiona from a fire breathing lovesick dragon, with a few songs thrown in between.

Dean Chisnall, playing the loveable green ogre told the Oxfordshire Guardian: "The show shall be a big, bright, all-singing, all-dancing musical.

"We are literally bringing the West End show to Oxford with a full cast of fairytale characters which everyone will love and recognise.

"Expect lots of laughter, great songs and you'll leave the theatre with a huge smile on your face."

The musical will be focusing on the first Shrek film, which was released back in May 2001.

Since then three more Shrek films have been released, making a total box office revenue of nearly £3billion with the latest film being released in 2010.

And despite the well known storyline in the first movie, Chisnall revealed a couple of scenes have been added to the musical.

By James Richings

james.richings@oxfordmail.co.uk

"Unlike the first film we delve more into the background of the characters," the actor added.

"The show actually opens with Shrek as a child, which we don't see in the film and we also get to know a lot more about Lord Farquaad.

"So it is the classic story that audiences all know and love with a little bit more thrown in."

The musical's director Nigel Harman (famous for playing Dennis Rickman in EastEnders from 2003 to 2005) shared his excitement about the show coming to Oxford.

"I am delighted to be returning to Shrek the Musical as its director, when the show comes to Oxford," the 41 year old said.

"This show is very special to me with its dizzying blend of great characters, a ridiculous script and sublime music."

He added: "This production is visually stunning, and the story has the magic ingredient of moving at great pace while still being surprisingly intimate."

Tickets cost £10 to £45.

National Adoption Week - Adoption Information Event

OXFORDSHIRE County Council are encouraging people to come forward to adopt the children who often wait longer to be placed with families - older children, children with disabilities and brothers and sisters.

The event part of National Adoption Week, takes place at County Hall from 3.00pm to 4.30pm on Wednesday November 12th. We are looking for adoptive families who can be flexible about their wishes for adoption.

There's always a need for permanent families to be found for children in care and providing a happy home for the children who need it most can be a profoundly rewarding choice for those who make it.

We asked one adopter about their experience of adoption. "Adopting our 2 children has given us all the joy we wished for. We don't see there special needs we just seem them as beautiful happy children who are very special. From the first day we saw them we knew that we wanted to be part of their lives forever.

Children who wait

Brothers and sisters

We are looking for families who are open to taking a sibling group. We recognize how important sibling relationships are and where possible our aim is to place them together.

Children with special needs

We are keen to find families for children with particular health and developmental needs. The Local Authority will gather as much information as possible around the child's history and there level of need both in the short and long term however we need adopters who are open to and able to manage future uncertainty. Although we may not always know what the child's future holds we do know that they need adopters that are dedicated and committed and who can provide the level of care, love and security that the children need. Adoptive families would not be alone as a specific support plan would be in place around the adopted child and their family.

Children aged 5 to 8 years

Children over the age of 5 years often wait a long time for an adoptive family because most prospective adopters are keen to adopt children as young as possible. We are keen therefore to hear from families who have no children under the age of 10 years and who could be just the right parents for one of these children.

Children from a wide range of different backgrounds

We will always aim to place children in families where all there needs can be met, we take all things into consideration when matching children with their new family and we are therefore looking for adopters of all ethnicities and backgrounds which will help us to find the right family for the children we are placing.

To find out more about the event next Wednesday, or more about adoption in general, visit www.oxfordshire.gov.uk/adoption or call the team on 0800 783 5724.

Blood, tears and laughter

THE critically acclaimed production 'Pitcairn' will be at the Oxford Playhouse next week.

By James Richings

The year is 1789 and after overthrowing Captain Bligh, Fletcher Christian drops anchor at the remote island of Pitcairn in the southern Pacific.

He plans to establish a society of equals with his fellow sailors, however the settlers are unwilling to relinquish their privileges and vices.

The production made its theatre debut at the Chichester Festival Theatre in August this year and is at the Playhouse, on Beaumont Street, from Tuesday November 11 to Saturday November 15.

Naveed Khan, who plays Menalee, told the Guardian: "Pitcairn is a historical black comedy at is very darkly comic."

"The audience can expect a utopia turning into a dystopia with laughter, blood and tears."

Playwright Richard Bean wrote 'Pitcairn' this year and quickly saw his work come to life directed by Max Stafford Clark.

"I was very privileged to have worked with Max Stafford Clark," Khan said. "He's a legend of British theatre."

The 31 year old added: "Richard has been writing hit after hit recently and I watched his shows wanting to be a part of it."

"He used to be a stand up comedian so naturally his writing is very funny and I love performing comedy."

Although he has never performed at the Oxford Playhouse before, Khan knows the city well.

He trained at The Oxford School of Drama in Woodstock from 2007 to 2008.

And when the production ends it's three-month UK tour at the end of the month, Khan will be rehearsing his next production with Slung Low, an outdoor arts company, in December.

Pitcairn is suitable for anyone over the age of 16.

Tickets will cost from £11 to £26.50.

Dance night

A SATURDAY Night Dance will be taking place at Woodstock Social Club on Saturday November 8.

Boogie the night away with the music of country singer Johnny Marks at the Oxford Street club.

The dance night starts at 8.30pm with tickets costing £3 for members and £6 for non-members.

Remembrance

AMONG the services being held to mark Remembrance Day this Sunday are choral and band concerts in Charlbury and Kidlington.

At the Setting of the Sun will be held at St Mary's Church in Church Lane, Charlbury, on Saturday November 8.

Sarah Tenant-Flowers will be conducting the North Cotswold Chamber Choir to remember those who lost their lives in conflict.

Tickets cost £12 for the 7.30pm concert.

The same day The Kidlington Concert Brass and Royal British Legion will be presenting their annual Remembrance Day programme at the Exeter Hall in Oxford Road, Kidlington.

Tickets cost £5 with the service starting at 7.30pm.

Wallingford in Business presents:-

A War Time Christmas – our tribute to those who kept the 'Home Fires Burning'

A Charitable Fund Raiser for SSAFA
Sunday 7th December 2014 .12 noon until 5.30pm

WALLINGFORD sometime towards the end of the Second World War... the town is looking under siege There are Pill Boxes along our stretch of the Thames the sign posts and all the Victorian iron railings were removed long ago, the shop windows are tattooed with tape There has not been an air raid but RAF Benson is only 3 miles down the road but Wallingford is prepared

It s the first Sunday in December and the town is gathering to Celebration Christmas it s a time for merry making!

Apart from the Army Vehicles the roads are clear stalls are up in the Market Place, the bunting may be faded but the Union Jacks look good the Home Guard Silver Band are tuning up Good wholesome local fair is being prepared for the Street Party along with Spam fritters, the latest treat from America.

Young ladies are in their glad rags, having their hair coiffured in the latest Hollywood style They're looking forward to dancing the afternoon away to Glenn Mill tunes, listening to all the singers and hoping a handsome serviceman might buy them a fancy cocktail from the mobile bar

The Children especially the evacuees are looking forward to visiting Father Christmas and hoping for an extra ration of sweets seeing the Nativity Play and having a go at the code breaking trail. The Fancy Dress competition will be fun too especially if there s a good prize!

Someone has seen Winston Churchill s Car in the area as well!

There s more entertainment and apparently after the All Clear rousing patriotic singing and Fireworks What Fun"!

A short film is being made local people recalling their War Time experiences and it is hoped this will be projected onto a screen as darkness falls

'Sterling effort' from MG

REVIEW MG3 3Style VTi-TECH
By Philip Shoulder

BACK in the '60s and '70s, MG was world-renowned for making fun and affordable small sports cars and the same ethos is being rekindled here by the re-launched brand – now under Chinese ownership.

There are big hopes for the MG3 hatch, boasting modern funky styling and a plethora of customisation options, as the firm's new supermini has been targeted at Fiat 500 and MINI hatch buyers.

It certainly looks the part with a sporty stance, curved A-pillars, high-mounted tail lamps and front LED running lights.

Also counting in its favour is a seriously low starting price, entry-level 'Time' trim cars start under £8,500.

Form-spec starts from £9,000 with range-topping Style models still costing £9,999, although the £10,000 barrier is quickly broken once any one of five styling option packs are chosen – this £11,231 test car wearing 'Lady Grey' metallic paint, Weave exterior graphic, Tackled Pink wing mirrors, Tech part leather trim and Piano Black Silver interior pack.

All cars get six airbags, stability control, emergency brake assist and Hill-hold control. The MG3 scored three stars in the Euro NCAP safety tests.

The MG3's engine (the same on all trim designations) is rather gruff and vocal when under full load, however produces 105bhp, which offers up a 0-62mph time of 10.4 seconds and top speed of 108mph – certainly acceptable figures in this class, but there's not a huge amount of torque though and the power delivery of the engine means that you'll need to work the motor quite hard to extract the quoted figures.

Where it falls behind rivals more noticeably is on efficiency and emissions (48.7mpg and 136g/km CO2). It also takes a little while to adjust to the clutch, as it's easy to over-rev the engine.

Other aspects of the MG3's driving dynamics are generally good. Steering is nicely weighted and progressive, the ride is pliant enough to be reasonably comfortable, yet also having good body control, while the gear change and brakes all pass muster.

Overall cabin refinement is actually pretty decent for a car of this size. Yes, road noise is always audible, but never excessively and wind noise is noticeably absent on the motorway.

The MG3's cabin feels as modern and fresh as the exterior, although beneath the attractive design, the budget quality of the plastics which are hard and scratchy quickly becomes apparent.

But MG has certainly been generous with kit levels. Even mid-spec Form models get a leather multifunction wheel, trip computer, air conditioning, Bluetooth, DAB radio and electric rear windows. This top-spec style adds nice ties such as 16-inch alloy wheels, rear parking sensors, cruise control and auto lights and wipers.

The car's upright roof design translates to an interior with plenty of headroom.

Legroom is good too, although the boot – despite being a practical square shape – is only average in size for this class, but as you'd expect in a hatch back, the rear seats fold flat to considerably increase the car's load hauling capacity.

Verdict. Despite some rough edges, the MG3 is a sterling effort from the revived British brand, having enough style and ability to be a genuinely appealing proposition for prospective supermini buyers.

VAUXHALL CELEBRATES 'WEEKEND OF GIVING' WITH £500 OF FREE FUEL

- £500 free fuel with Vauxhall cars and vans purchased from 7th - 10th November
- Additional 20 per cent off accessories during four day celebration

LUTON Vauxhall is hosting its "Weekend of Giving" at its retailers across the country during the weekend of Friday 7th and Monday 10th November, where customers purchasing a new Vauxhall car or van will receive £500 of free fuel*

The offer is available on a wide range of brand new models including the urban-chic ADAM city car the Mokka compact SUV and the Corsa supermini.

As well as passenger cars the offer is also open to commercial vehicle customers across Vauxhall's multi award-winning van range including Corsavan, Combo Vivaro and Movano

The 'Weekend of Giving' is a great opportunity for motorists looking for a new Vauxhall vehicle to benefit from £500 free fuel, which is available in addition to Vauxhall's existing range of fantastic offers said Mark Pinkney, Vauxhall's Marketing Programmes Manager

We'd like to invite all those interested in a new 64 plate model to join in the excitement at our dealerships during the event period and discover the Vauxhall vehicle that best suits their needs

During the four day event, customers who buy a new car can also get 20 per cent off selected Vauxhall Accessories including a vast array of equipment such as Garmin sat navs roof boxes iPad cradles and bike carriers

The Vauxhall Weekend of Giving takes place 7th to 10th November 2014 To find your local dealer and claim the £500 free fuel on a new Vauxhall, visit www.vauxhall.co.uk

*£500 free fuel offer applies to car and commercial vehicle orders from 7th to 10th November 2014 which are then registered by 31st December 2014 Exclusions terms and conditions apply £500 free fuel will be supplied via pre-paid debit card purchases only and cannot be used to withdraw cash

Coach Phillips excited by London Welsh challenge

LONDON Welsh's new defence coach Rowland Phillips says he plans to increase the intensity in training to help turn their season around.

The Exiles are on a nine-match winless run in all competitions and have conceded six tries a game on average in the Aviva Premiership.

Phillips, who began his new role on Tuesday, plans to also install a strong defensive mentality at the club – starting on Sunday in the LV= Cup against Gloucester.

The 43-year-old, who is a former Exiles captain, said: "I need to put the players under more pressure in training.

"I probably need to create a higher intensity in training-only five minutes here and there.

"It is just to try and get to terms with what the intensity of a game is."

The former Wales defence coach says he has been impressed with the attitude of the players in training and sees the role as a "great challenge".

He continued: "The desire I can see that in the players.

"They really want to do well, make a difference, and I can use that energy.

"I would feel a lot less energised as a person if the players were not energised.

"I feel quite confident we can change and improve things."

The Exiles have already faced Gloucester in the Aviva Premiership at the Kassam Stadium this season and were beaten 46-10.

And Phillips says the players need to go into Sunday's LV= Cup tie believing they can win.

He added: "I don't want to be a team that goes from 40 points to 30 and say things are getting better.

"I know there is going to be pain before pleasure and this is not something that will change overnight.

"But I would like the mentality to be that we are going there to win.

"Gloucester have a good team and I want us as a defence to take on that challenge and win our little battles."

City shocked by comeback from battling North Ferriby

OXFORD City threw away a two goal lead to lose 4-3 at North Ferriby United in the Vanarama Conference North last Saturday.

The defeat leaves City winless in their last four games, and they have also slipped to seventh in the table as a result.

Justin Merritt's side have also conceded 13 goals in the last four matches and will be desperate to end the poor run on Saturday against Stalybridge Celtic.

Last weekend a brace from Darren Pond and a Javi Rodriguez strike put City seemingly in control at 3-1 going into half time.

However, Tom Denton, Nathan Jarman and Jamie Yates all scored in the second half to stun City and send them back to Oxford disappointed.

Merritt's side were also reduced to 10 men in the latter stages of the match as Francisco Insa was shown his marching orders.

Meanwhile, City's youth team advanced to the second round of the FA Cup with a 3-2 win over Wimborne Town on Tuesday night.

They will face Luton Town who beat Didcot Town 4-1 in the first round.

Robinson urges Exiles to rectify their costly errors

FLY-HALF Will Robinson says London Welsh must rectify defensive errors if they are to claim their first win of the season this weekend.

The Exiles take on Gloucester in the LV= Cup at the Kassam Stadium on Sunday looking to end a nine match winless run in all competitions.

Welsh were punished 47-7 by Bath in their opening LV= Cup tie at The Rec last Saturday and Robinson said errors were at the centre of the problem once again.

He continued: "Our mistakes led to their tries and it's been the same story every week. We've got to rectify that."

Robinson has been restricted to Aviva A League action so far this season but has performed well while out on loan at National League 2 side Henley Hawks.

The 21-year old impressed as a second half substitute against Bath after setting up Nick Scott for the Exiles try and then kicking a conversion from the touchline.

He added: "It was fun, it wasn't the best scoreline to be going on to but at The Rec in front of 13,000 is a great place to come on and play a bit of rugby.

"As a team we moved the ball well and got into our structure really well. If everyone around you knows what they're doing it's easy for a ten so I just had to pick the players off with my passes."

Appleton adamant United's fortunes will change ahead of FA Cup tie

U'S 'MUST KEEP WORKING HARD'

HEAD coach Michael Appleton says the only way Oxford United can turn their season around is to continue to work hard

United are 18th in Sky Bet League Two and on a two-match winless run following last Saturday s 2 1 defeat at home to Wycombe Wanderers

Home form had been a positive for United so far this season and, had Danny Hylton converted a last minute penalty at the week end their unbeaten run at the Kassam Stadium would have been stretched to six games

However the Chairboys returned to Buckinghamshire victorious, leaving United nine points adrift of the play-offs after 16 games

Appleton knows at some point Oxford s fortunes will change and hopes it will start on Saturday against Vanarama Conference side Grimsby Town in the first round of the FA Cup

He said "I think we have just got to put things into perspective, it is a tough period for us

"It will be a long season we are not daft but in terms of controlling the disappointment at people all we can do is work hard

"We have to try to put in performances try to improve results and over a period of time if we do that I am sure peoples minds will change"

Appleton added "We win together we draw together and we lose together

"We are a team and a tight knit one and we will dust ourselves down

"At some point there will be a

By Jack Johnson
jack@tajlernewspapers.co.uk

period in the season where we will kick on the sooner the better really"

Tareiq Holmes-Dennis has been given permission by parent club Charlton Athletic to play against Grimsby this weekend.

Fellow loanees Tyrone Barnett and Joe Riley are also eligible to play but George Long is unavailable

Top scorer Hylton will also miss the game as he serves a one-match ban after picking up his fifth yellow card of the season in the defeat to Wycombe

Meanwhile winger Alex Jakubiak has returned to Watford after the Sky Bet Championship club recalled him from his loan.

The 18 year old made 10 appearances and scored one goal while at United but has found opportunities limited in recent weeks

Appleton said "He has found it hard to get games over the last few weeks and we talked to Watford and the player himself and everyone agreed that the best thing for him right now is to be back at Vicarage Road

"Alex has tons of ability and is keen to learn and we have enjoyed working with him here and wish him well for the future"

On Tuesday, Brian Howard scored five goals as the development side ran riot with a 12-0 win over Peckham Academy
